Organophosphorus compounds are organic compounds containing carbon–phosphorus bonds. They are widely employed both in natural and synthetic applications because of the ease with which organic groups can be combined.

- Properties of Phosphorus Compounds

- Reactivity of Phosphorus Compounds

- Synthesis of Phosphorus Compounds