An aldehyde is a carbonyl compound in whose molecule the carbonyl carbon is bonded to two hydrogen atoms or to a hydrogen atom and a carbon atom.

eg:

\[
\begin{array}{c}
\text{CHO group}
\end{array}
\]

The CHO group in an aldehyde is called the aldehyde group.

Contributors

- Gamini Gunawardena from the OChemPal site (Utah Valley University)