An allylic substitution is a substitution reaction in which a ligand on an allylic carbon in an organic compound is replaced by another ligand.

eg:

Contributors

- Gamini Gunawardena from the OChemPal site (Utah Valley University)