A cyclic acetal is an acetal in the molecule of which the acetal carbon and one or both oxygen atoms thereon are members of a ring.

eg:

see also cyclic ketal.

Contributors

- Gamini Gunawardena from the OChemPal site (Utah Valley University)