Monochromatic light is light made up of waves of the same wavelength.

Contributors

- Gamini Gunawardena from the OChemPal site (Utah Valley University)