A monosubstituted alkene is an alkene in which the doubly bonded carbons are bonded to only one carbon excluding each other.

eg.

!Chemical structures of monosubstituted alkenes

see also disubstituted alkene, trisubstituted alkene, tetrasubstituted alkene

Contributors

- Gamini Gunawardena from the OChemPal site (Utah Valley University)