Prostaglandins are a class of nonsaponifiable lipids. The common structural features of prostaglandins are 1) the number of carbon atoms in the molecule is twenty, 2) the molecule contains a five-membered carbocycle.

eg:

see also steroid

Contributors

• Gamini Gunawardena from the OChemPal site (Utah Valley University)