Triacylglycerols or triacylglycerides are a class of saponifiable lipids, formed by the reaction of glycerol with three equivalents of the same or different fatty acids.

eg:

see also fat, oil

Contributors

- Gamini Gunawardena from the OChemPal site (Utah Valley University)