A trisubstituted alkene is an alkene in the molecule of which the doubly bonded carbons are bonded to a total of three carbon atoms excluding each other.

eg:

see also monosubstituted alkene, disubstituted alkene, tetrasubstituted alkene

Contributors

- Gamini Gunawardena from the OChemPal site (Utah Valley University)